GitHub info

The github contains multiple folders.

- The SmartOBD folder is the current working version of the NodeJS pug website.
- The Development files folder has an older version of the site along with many of the HTML pages and resources that were converted to pug for the final site.
- The Dynamic commands folder is the python client that uploads car data to the website based on login and car. It also handles our live monitoring information.

Deployment Info

At first we had the server hosted on a vps, but we then moved it to heroku since it's free and enables many additional features. The website has a working demo for the home and full log pages.
